Dear Fellow Columbian,

The spirit of la belle France is unmistakable along the verdant banks of the Loire River, where stately Renaissance châteaux and idyllic medieval villages nestle amid the lush vineyards and fertile fields of a land justly acclaimed as “the garden of France.” We are pleased to sponsor Village Life: Châteaux in the Loire Valley, an unparalleled opportunity to experience the authentic character and to explore the ancient province of Touraine. Encompassing the Loire Valley, this province is a place where people have preserved the gracious traditions of a bygone era.

The Loire Valley is a haven of tranquility, recognized as a UNESCO World Heritage site for its cultural and architectural treasures. Here, where proud kings held court and powerful counts ruled the surrounding villages from impregnable strongholds, immerse yourself in the rich heritage and fascinating history of the Loire Valley while enjoying accommodations in the family-owned Château de Pray. This intimate Renaissance manor house combines a traditional provincial ambiance with modern amenities while enjoying a scenic setting on a wooded hillside near the Loire River. The château was once the residence of French monarchs and is just a short distance from the picturesque town of Amboise, the final residence of Leonardo da Vinci, the pre-eminent genius of the Renaissance.

Among the many included features of this program are the unique Village Forum, where local residents share their perspectives and insights into daily life in rural France; a series of enriching lectures; and savory regional specialties served at dinners in the Château de Pray. To enhance your understanding and appreciation of the culture and history of the Loire Valley, we have arranged exclusive guided excursions to the region’s most important landmarks. Admire the fabled Renaissance châteaux of Chambord, Chenonceau and Azay-le-Rideau; walk through the fortified town of Loches, a virtual open-air museum of medieval architecture; and, during the annual autumnal harvest, visit the vineyards that yield the sprightly white Loire wines appreciated by connoisseurs around the world.

This exceptional value including accommodations and excursions, the convenience of unpacking once and this captivating destination combine to create a truly unique and alluring travel program. We are pleased to be joined on this program by alumni from our co-sponsor Georgetown University. Village Life: Châteaux in the Loire Valley promises to be a very popular travel program, so we encourage you to join fellow alumni and friends and make your reservation today!

With best wishes from Morningside Heights,

Eric J. Furda ’94TC
Vice President for Alumni Relations

Columbia Guest Lecturer
We make it a priority to provide an outstanding Columbia University affiliated guest lecturer who will accompany each program. Education is central to the mission of the Alumni Travel Study Program, and we intend that you will be joined by a guest lecturer. Our lecturers are chosen for the depth of their knowledge as well as their approachability. We trust that their enthusiasm and insight, experienced through formal lectures and informal conversations, will greatly enhance the educational value of the trip. As this brochure goes to press, however, we are unable to guarantee a lecturer. Please feel free to contact our office for an update on the guest lecturer status.

“Everything ends this way in France - everything. Weddings, christenings, duels, burials, swindlings, diplomatic affairs - everything is a pretext for a good dinner.”

-- Jean Anouilh

Graceful Château Chenonceau and its gardens represent the fullest flowering of the French Renaissance. Above right: Coat of Arms found in Chenonceau.
CHÂTEAU DE CHAMBORD
This regal château, built according to plans conceived by Leonardo da Vinci, is overwhelming by virtue of the sheer magnitude of its size and grandeur. Begun in 1519 and completed 18 years later, it testifies to the power and majesty of François I (1494-1547), whose zeal for monumental architecture nearly bankrupted his kingdom. On its completion, it consisted of 440 rooms, 365 chimneys and 15 staircases, all enclosed within the 20-mile-long wall, the most extensive in France. The distinctive centerpiece of this château is the double spiral staircase designed by da Vinci himself.

AMBOISE
Located on the south bank of the Loire River, this Renaissance town surrounded by vineyards lies at the foot of the Château d’Amboise, one of the oldest royal residences along the river. Offering a panoramic view over Amboise and the Loire Valley, the present structure, dating from the 1400s and 1500s, represents a harmonious fusion of Gothic and Renaissance architecture. The château houses an impressive collection of antique furnishings, and within its Chapelle St-Hubert, a Late Gothic jewel, stands the restored tomb of Leonardo da Vinci.

Nearby, da Vinci spent the last three years of his life living in the Château du Clos-Lucé. His private quarters—bedroom, study, kitchen and workshop—have been faithfully preserved. In the adjacent Parc Leonardo da Vinci, full-size replicas of 12 of his inventions and 32 translucent paintings are on open-air exhibit.

CHÂTEAU DE CHENONCEAU
Appearing to float above its surroundings, Chenonceau epitomizes the elegance and grace of the French Renaissance, spanning a quiet stretch of the Cher River in a landscape of open woodlands and formal gardens. Three powerful women influenced the design of this elegant 16th-century country retreat: Catherine Briconnet, the wife of a royal chamberlain; Diane de Poitiers, the mistress of King Henri II and the most celebrated beauty of her age; and Catherine de Médicis, Henri’s widow and the virtual ruler of France after his death. Chenonceau’s treasures include its artfully woven Flemish tapestries, the brilliant stained glass windows of its chapel and the classically austere architecture of Catherine de Médicis’ Grande Gallerie. A leisurely cruise down the Cher River through the French countryside aboard a traditional gabare (barge) will transport you back to this gilded age of monarchs and royal courtesans.

For ten centuries, Loches’ namesake château has stood guard over this untouched medieval gem.
LOCHES
This beautifully preserved medieval, walled town has played a significant role in French history. Step back into the Middle Ages as you walk through its 11th-century château, an impregnable citadel held in turn by the Counts of Anjou, Richard the Lionheart and Philippe Augustus of France. It was from here in 1429 that Joan of Arc led her army to victory over the English forces at Patay. The château’s subterranean dungeons once held prisoners of state, including Ludovico Sforza, the Duke of Milan. Loches’ Old Quarter has retained its medieval character, with graceful balconied houses, the Romanesque Church of St-Ours, Gothic gates and a lively marketplace.

TOURS
The capital of Touraine and an ecclesiastical center since the Roman era, Tours is the gateway to the château and wine country of the Loire Valley. In medieval times, pilgrims en route to Santiago de Compostela in Spain stopped here to render homage at the tomb of St. Martin, a fourth-century bishop and the beloved Apostle of the Gauls. Rising above the restored Old Quarter is the 13th-century Cathédrale St-Gatien, an outstanding example of French Gothic architecture. Along with Paris and Lyon, Tours enjoys a well-deserved reputation as one of the three gastronomic capitals of France.

CHÂTEAU D’AZAY-LE-RIDEAU
This elegant 16th-century château, hailed by the celebrated author Honoré de Balzac as a “faceted diamond set in the Indre,” represents a unique fusion of Gothic and Italianate architectural elements. Its gleaming white façade and slate-gray roof and turrets are reflected in the placid waters of the Indre River. Built by the finance minister of Francis I and later appropriated by the monarch for his personal use, this opulent retreat served as a summer residence for French kings. The imposing grand central staircase leads to the Great Hall, adorned with magnificent Flemish tapestries, and the colorful Red Room, its walls hung with portraits of French monarchs and noblemen.

CHÂTEAU DE VILLANDRY
Famous for its stunningly beautiful and symmetrical gardens, among the finest in Western Europe, Villandry is the last of the great Loire Valley châteaux, dating from 1536. Designed in a series of three tiers, with a water garden at the top, floral plantings in the middle and an ornamental kitchen garden—laid out in precise geometrical patterns—at the lowest level, the castle’s grounds present a pleasing prospect to the eye throughout the changing seasons. In the Garden of Love, the blossoms symbolize the four varieties of love: passionate, tragic, tender and unfaithful. The verdant boxwood hedges and artfully shaped fruit trees lining the gardens symbolize the Renaissance ideal of man’s mastery of nature.

Chenin blanc grapes yield the delicate, fragrant Vouvray wines prized by connoisseurs.

The lofty parapets of Château Amboise offer a panoramic view of the Loire Valley.

Leonardo da Vinci - Guiding Spirit of the Renaissance

With the waning of the Middle Ages during the late 15th and early 16th centuries, the wave of cultural and intellectual renewal known as the Renaissance spread from its birthplace on the Italian peninsula and revitalized the emergent nation-states of Western Europe. Nowhere was its impact more keenly felt than in France, where two visionary monarchs, Charles VIII and Francis I, induced Italian artists and scholars to settle in their realm. Foremost among these was the quintessential “Renaissance man,” the Tuscan genius Leonardo da Vinci—painter, sculptor, architect, engineer, inventor—who spent the last three years of his life (1516-19) at the Château du Clos-Lucé in Amboise as a guest of Francis I.

Although he was 65 when he settled in Amboise, da Vinci continued his intellectual and artistic pursuits with undiminished vigor. In his capacity as First Painter, Architect and Engineer to the King, he sketched The Virgin and Child with St. Anne; set down on paper his blueprints for bridges, water wheels, pumps, weaponry, paddlewheel boats, flying machines and other ingenious devices; designed the formal double staircase of the Château de Chambord; and orchestrated court festivities on behalf of his royal patron. One of his most inspired plans involved rechanneling the Loire River! Although he died almost five centuries ago, his legacy lives on in Clos-Lucé, and today visitors can walk through his private apartment and workshop; and admire full-scale models of his inventions in the château’s Parc Leonardo da Vinci.

In Amboise
