Dear Fellow Columbian,

We are pleased to once again sponsor Village Life in Assisi and the Umbrian Hill Towns, a unique travel opportunity that captures the essence of life in Umbria, a beautiful and historic region in the heart of the Italian countryside. One of the lesser traveled areas, Umbria is home to some of the most charming towns, breathtaking scenery and finest art and architecture in all of Italy. This program is ideal for exploring Umbria’s long history, rich architectural heritage and the deep-rooted traditions of its people.

The medieval Umbrian town of Assisi is one of Italy’s great ecclesiastical centers—the birthplace of St. Francis, founder of the Franciscan Monastic Order in the early 13th century. Here, he is honored in one of the most magnificent churches in the world, the Romanesque Basilica of St. Francis, decorated floor to ceiling by Italy’s greatest medieval artists, including the Florentine master, Giotto di Bondone, whose frescoes in the church became a reference point for Italian artists throughout the Renaissance. Across this walled town and in villages throughout the region, captivating churches, alleyways and campaniles reflect life in the Italian heartland as it was before the advent of modernity. You will experience Assisi’s enchanting atmosphere while staying in the delightful Hotel Subasio. Overlooking the Umbrian countryside and just steps away from the Basilica of St. Francis, the Hotel Subasio offers a perfect blend of convenience, comfort and charm.

Among the many included features of this program is the unique Village Forum, where local residents share their perspectives and insights into life in Umbria. In addition, local guides and experts will offer their extensive knowledge of Assisi and Umbria through informative and entertaining lectures. While exploring historic towns and villages like Orvieto, Spoleto, Gubbio and Perugia, you will discover some of the finest Renaissance art and architecture in all of Europe, and experience first-hand the deep-rooted culture of Umbria while attending a live performance of traditional music and savoring Umbrian and Italian specialties in nearby trattorie.

This exceptional value and the convenience of unpacking only once combine with a great destination to make this a truly enticing and popular program, which continues to sell out. We encourage you to join alumni, family, friends and participants from our co-sponsor, the University of Notre Dame, and make your reservation today.

With best wishes from Morningside Heights,

Eric J. Furda ’94TC
Vice President for Alumni Relations

“One of the best tours we have ever taken.” - Natalie and Frederick K. ’56

Columbia Guest Lecturer
We make it a priority to provide an outstanding Columbia University affiliated guest lecturer who will accompany each program. Education is central to the mission of the Alumni Travel Study Program, and we intend that you will be joined by a guest lecturer. Our lecturers are chosen for the depth of their knowledge as well as their approachability. We trust that their enthusiasm and insight, experienced through formal lectures and informal conversations, will greatly enhance the educational value of the trip. As this brochure goes to press, however, we are unable to guarantee a lecturer. Please feel free to contact our office for an update on the guest lecturer status. Please note that a minimum number of passengers is required to confirm faculty participation.

Built on a dramatic hilltop more than two thousand years ago, the ancient town of Orvieto embodies the timeless beauty of Umbria.
Assisi
Spread out against the slopes of Mount Subasio, the ancient walled town of Assisi possesses a breathtaking medieval skyline. Dozens of Romanesque domes and campaniles testify to its fame as the birthplace (in 1181) of St. Francis, founder of the Franciscans, the largest Catholic order in existence. Two years after St. Francis’ death in 1226, Pope Gregory XI erected a church to hold his remains, the Basilica of St. Francis, one of the world’s truly great medieval churches. The foremost artists of medieval Italy were commissioned to decorate this massive structure — exquisite frescoes by Giovanni Cimabue, Giotto di Bondone, Simone Martini and Pietro Lorenzetti adorn the walls and double-barreled vaults from floor to ceiling in a profusion of color. Their work in this cathedral was part of the revolution in Italian art and inspired artists throughout the Renaissance.

Assisi’s marvels only begin with this one church, however. St. Clare, one of St. Francis’s first disciples, was granted her own basilica, a 13th-century masterpiece with extraordinarily detailed frescoes, a majestic crypt and a crucifix which is said to have spoken to St. Francis.

Home to only 5,000 residents, Assisi’s Old Town still exudes a decisively medieval atmosphere along its steep, narrow lanes and medieval houses built of the soft, pinkish limestone quarried from the slopes of Mount Subasio, which overlooks the village.

Spello & Spoleto
Spello reflects its Roman heritage more than other Umbrian towns as the poplar-lined fields in the valleys below still clearly mark divisions of land engineered by Roman legionnaires in the first century B.C. Within its city gates, built by Augustus Caesar, the towers of 26 Romanesque and Renaissance churches and a forest of medieval chimneys dominate the town’s ancient skyline. Renowned for its fine majolica tile work and Pinturicchio’s fresco cycle depicting the Annunciation, the 13th-century Church of Santa Maria Maggiore is Spello’s preeminent landmark and one of the finest churches in Umbria.

To reach Spoleto, a favorite retreat of St. Francis, one crosses the magnificent 14th-century Ponte delle Torri, a bridge built over a Roman aqueduct offering splendid views of the Rocca Albornoz, a 14th-century papal fortress. For centuries, life in Spoleto has revolved around its elegant Romanesque Duomo, featuring the final works of the legendary master of fresco painting, Fra Lippo Lippi. The great artist is buried here within a tomb commissioned by Lorenzo di Medici, a principal patron of the Renaissance in Florence.

Gubbio

Gubbio, the medieval City of Silence, sits among rugged mountains in a corner of Umbria, seemingly oblivious to the modern era. Its white 14th-century stone buildings comprise a setting grounded in the Middle Ages, where legends have attached themselves to fountains and piazzas, and crossbows are still constructed for archery tournaments. Gubbio's most prominent building is the Palazzo dei Consoli, the meeting place of Gubbio's consuls, and one of the finest examples of medieval civic architecture in Italy. Today, it is a museum housing the Tavole Eugubine. Discovered in 1444, these extraordinary bronze tablets provide records of ceremonial rituals and legal proceedings from the 2nd century B.C., inscribed in both Etruscan and Latin characters.

Perugia

Home to a prominent university, Perugia is Umbria’s largest city and a preeminent center of music and culture. The Old Town, almost completely encircled by Etruscan walls, is dominated by the lively Piazza IV Novembre, where an impressive collection of medieval and Renaissance buildings frames the 16th-century Duomo. The Duomo's steps are a perfect place to catch your breath while watching the play of water in the Fontana Maggiore, a 13th-century masterpiece adorned with sculptures by Pisano. Nearby, the magnificent Gothic Palazzo dei Priori houses the Galleria Nazionale dell'Umbria and its fantastic collection of works from the Middle Ages, including an altarpiece by Fra Angelico.

Orvieto

Perched upon a huge 984-foot-high plateau, Orvieto provides exceptional views over its namesake vineyards, which produce highly acclaimed white wines. Founded by the Etruscans, Orvieto has, by virtue of geography, always been closely linked economically, politically and culturally with Rome. Indeed, throughout the Middle Ages, numerous popes made the town their summer retreat and brought with them many of Italy’s most skilled architects, craftsmen and artists who bequeathed to Orvieto a magnificent collection of public buildings and an artistic legacy second to none for a town of its size. Perhaps the finest example is the towering 14th-century Cathedral of Santa Maria, one of the most dazzling churches in Italy. Highlighted by magnificently vibrant frescoes crafted by Fra Angelico in the Chapel of San Brizio, it also houses a miraculous altar cloth that is said to have dripped blood to repudiate a priest’s doubts about transubstantiation.

Todi

From shady gardens, a quiet path leads past a castle and down through trees to Todi’s grand Santa Maria della Consolazione, one of Italy’s finest Renaissance churches, built in the 16th century according to the famed architect Bramante’s plans. The town, a sleepy medieval hamlet perched on a hilltop, is centered by the gracious Piazza del Popolo and, a few steps away, the impressive Gothic San Fortunato Church, home to the fine Madonna and Child by Masolino and the tomb of Jacopone di Todi, a 13th-century poet and mystic.
HOTEL SUBASIO

Assisi’s four-star Hotel Subasio offers one of the finest locations — a quiet setting adjacent to the Basilica of Saint Francis and overlooking the red-roofed houses of lower Assisi, with green meadows, fields and the verdant Umbrian hills beyond. The lovely public panoramic terraces take full advantage of this view, and the Abbey Church is visible from many of the 87 guest rooms. Your comfortable accommodations feature a private bathroom, direct-dial telephone and cable television.

Public spaces include a terrace café overlooking the Umbrian countryside, and lounge area with leather sofas and furnishings in the classic 19th-century Italian style. The hotel’s elegant restaurant is set amid brick and stone arches that recalls Umbria’s traditional architectural style, and serves authentic Umbrian and Italian cuisine.
