Dear Columbian,

Discover the timeless beauty of Africa on an exciting Columbia family safari to Tanzania. Join guest lecturer, Columbia Professor Dr. Manning Marable, fellow alumni, family and friends in the thrill of big game watching in the heart of East Africa.

Our wildlife safari begins in Tarangire National Park, where the rolling countryside is dotted with majestic baobab trees, which seem to dwarf the animals that feed beneath them. We then wend our way to the lush and verdant Ngorongoro Crater, a massive caldera inhabited by rhinoceros, elephant and black-maned lion. Our final stop is in the vast Serengeti National Park, where we embark on wildlife drives, navigating back roads and grassy tracks, in rugged four-wheel drive vehicles.

Led by expert naturalist guides, each day in the bush brings a new surprise: lion stalking a herd of zebra; a hundred Thompson gazelle springing across a dirt road; a tiny dik-dik antelope hidden in the tall grass; elephants leading their babies to a watering hole; hippopotamus wallowing in a pool; or a family of cheetah patiently hunting its prey.

Young travelers will be matched with pen pals, whom they'll meet in a pool; or a family of cheetah patiently hunting its prey.

December is a wonderful time to visit Tanzania, with modest temperatures and abundant wildlife sightings. This exclusive Columbia safari is sure to sell out quickly, and we encourage you to reserve your space now to avoid disappointment.

Sincerely,

Eric J. Furda
Vice President of Alumni Relations

After a breakfast of local eggs, fresh fruits, breads and cereals, depart for Ngorongoro Crater for an early morning wildlife viewing and to continue our exploration of this fascinating park. Examine up-close the distinctive bulbous baobab trees and leopards and pausing as elephant families cross the road. We make our way into the Ngorongoro Highlands for lunch before an afternoon at a traditional Maasai village. We will have the opportunity to speak with the village headman and view the Maasai women’s cooperative in action. We look forward to modernizing this beautiful ancient village.

Today our young travelers meet their pen pals and experience rural village life. After lunch we will meet with our village headman to learn about Maasai culture and village life. This is a great way to interact with locals and learn about the Maasai way of life. We then depart for Mount Kilimanjaro, the highest peak in Africa, where we will spend the night at the Moivaro Lodge (B,L,D).
